Transferring Property from the Warfighter to the Crimefighter

We Are The LESO

Under Section 1033 of the National Defense Authorization Act of Fiscal Year 1997, Congress authorized the Secretary of Defense to transfer personal property that is excess to the Department of Defense (DoD) to Federal and State Law Enforcement Agencies (LEAs). The Law Enforcement Support Office (LESO) administers and executes 10 USC Section 2576a, for the Director, Defense Logistics Agency (DLA). DLA Disposition Services is a primary field level activity of DLA. DLA Disposition Services headquarters, is located in Battle Creek, MI.

Since inception, the Law Enforcement Support Office has transferred over 5,000,000 line items of property, significantly enhancing Law Enforcement Agency capabilities and saving tax-payers more than $2.1 billion dollars.

The 1033 Program significantly increases the capabilities of Law Enforcement Agencies (LEAs) nationwide while reducing costs for taxpayers. The LESO Team is dedicated to providing superior service to the Law Enforcement community by transferring excess property “from the War fighter to the Crime fighter.”

*Anticipate and Deliver.
Be Exceptional.*

More than 18,000 local, State and Federal Law Enforcement Agencies benefit by using the 1033 Program as an 'alternate source of supply'. Items such as these are routinely requisitioned.

Who Can Participate?

Federal and State LEAs who have compensated officers with the powers of arrest and apprehension may apply for participation. LEAs with emphasis on counter-drug and counter-terrorism missions are given preference during the allocation process.

Property Available

Rescue, Safety and Environmental Protection Equipment such as ambulances, watercraft and welding machines.

Tactical and Field gear such as cots, blankets, generators, heaters and floodlights to support operational readiness.

Special Weapons and Tactics Equipment such as boots and many other individual tactical clothing and equipment items.

Exercise Equipment such as treadmills, weights and bikes to maintain fitness standards.

Office Equipment such as computers, copiers, fax machines and furniture.

Training and Support items such as microwaves, refrigerators and furniture for operational readiness.

Success Stories

“LESO has provided a means for our multi-jurisdictional air support unit to acquire surplus military helicopters that have saved lives, found missing children and adults, apprehended fleeing felons and located illegal drug operations. LESO's continuing support and responsiveness to the needs of law enforcement has been instrumental in our efforts to enhance the safety of all first responders and the public we serve. Simply stated, these critically needed air support assets would not be available without the 1033 program and LESO's assistance.”

After

“The infusion into our armory of the M-16s enables our division to more effectively respond to high level threats including high-risk warrants, to provide executive protection and witness protection and to assist other law enforcement in responding to situations which might involve weapons of mass destruction or suicide bombers, for example. In this day and age, law enforcement can never be too prepared to respond to such emergencies. We have received automobiles, bullet proof vests and other items through this program.”

What could this mean for your Agency?

Through the LESO, agencies are able to easily request property that they otherwise would be unable to afford. The DLA Disposition Services LESO provides an alternate source of supply that enables law enforcement agencies to request adequate equipment for their officers to stay safe. With the money saved, agencies are often able to retain officers and hire new staff even in the midst of a fiscally constrained environment. Agencies are then able to provide training and equipment to officers that were previously unavailable.

Annual 1033 Program National Conference

Through annual conference briefings, the LESO provides updates on policies and procedures as well as training and assistance to our customers and 1033 Program State Coordinators. This forum is the catalyst for constructive interaction between the LESO staff, our 1033 Program State Coordinators, our customers and strategic partners such as Office of the Secretary of Defense, Department of Justice/National Institute of Justice, US Tank Automotive and Armaments Command, Naval Surface Warfare Center-Crane, International Association of Chiefs of Police, National Sheriff's Association and many others.
